Swallow Hill Jersey Dairy

ABOUT

Swallow Hill Jersey Dairy is a dairy farm located in Jamestown, Ohio. Todd Fliehman is the owner and operator of the farm and has been in the business since graduating high school. Todd's milk is heated at a lower temperature for a longer period of time, which better preserves its flavor and potential beneficial substances. The milk does not go through the homogenization process to break down the fats so the fattier cream rises to the top of the milk (simply scrape it off!). And above all else, Todd treats his cattle with nothing but the love and respect that they deserve!
