

Local Food Connection Proud Partner Davidson Family Growers

ABOUT

Kevin Davidson is a 5th-generation farmer in New Carlisle, Ohio, but the first in his recent family to grow market-ready produce. He is also the first in his family to grow hydroponically. Kevin started his branch of the family farm in 2014 because he was looking to diversify their work in addition to traditional row crops. Over five years, he has learned to grow many types of produce indoors, specializing in greens but also dabbling in root crops, tomatoes, and cucumbers. Kevin's small children aren't yet old enough to be very involved but his four-year-old has trained in transplanting plants! Look out for Kevin's year-round multi-colored and multi-textured head lettuce varieties and seasonal lacinato kale.

LOCATION

New Carlisle, Ohio

PRACTICES

Hydroponics

PRODUCTS

Baby kale
Butterhead lettuce
Oakleaf lettuce
Romaine
Mixed artisan lettuce
Culy kale
Lacitano kale

